Fiction/Nonfiction Fortune Teller

- A project where students find out about friends’ reading habits.

by Useful Resources

Copyright © 2018 Useful Resources
Permission to copy for classroom use only.
Electronic distribution limited to classroom use only.
All rights reserved by author.
Welcome to the Fiction/Nonfiction Fortune Teller worksheet. Kids love fortune tellers or cootie catchers. In this project, students will use a template to ask friends about their reading habits.

This worksheet will work well with any age of students but I specifically use it with students in 3rd through 6th grade. Students will cut out and fold the fortune teller. Then they can ask a friend to make choices which ends in a question to be answered. This makes a great icebreaker or fun day with students.

Images for this worksheet are in the public domain. I created the template.

Thank you for downloading this activity. If you enjoy this, please check my store for more fairytale lessons, activities, and worksheets. I also specialize in fun book reports that students love to do. You can also find many different worksheets and activities based on favorite children's books.

Please provide feedback so I know what other items you may be interested in.

All activities are student tested and teacher approved!

Copyright © 2018 Useful Resources
Permission to copy for classroom use only.
Electronic distribution limited to classroom use only.
All rights reserved by author.
Fiction/Nonfiction Fortune Teller

1. Cut out your fortune teller.
2. Fold in half vertically and then in half horizontally.
3. Open fortune teller. Flip it over so the top is blank and fold each corner into the middle.
4. Flip it over and do it again.
5. Flip it over so you can see the fiction/nonfiction choices.
6. Place your thumb and your finger in pockets and press together so they touch.
7. All the pictures should now be at the front with centers touching.
8. You are ready to ask a friend to make a choice.

Copyright © 2018 Useful Resources All rights reserved. Permission for single classroom use only.